Summary: This is a basic 'what if' story about if Coyote Starrk was born into the Soul Society instead of Hueco Mundo. Hope you enjoy.

1. Chapter 1

A story about my main man Coyote Starrk if he was born in the Soul Society. I don't own any of the characters used in this story, they belong to Tite Kubo, the author of Bleach.

This is like the dub, so I'll be referring to them as _Soul_ _Reaper_ instead of _Shinigami._

Episode 1: Coyote Starrk

A young boy was walking through a forest. He had grey/blue eyes, and he had long brown hair that flew passed his eyes. He was wearing a torn up white robe. He woke several hours ago, and he'd been trying to find some sign of life. He was extremely hungry, as if he hadn't eaten for days.

After about twenty minutes, he stumbled upon a village. He walked into the village. And he looked around. No one. "Hello?" He called. No response. He stumbled down to the ground, unable to walk any longer because he was so hungry. "God..." He mumbled.

Suddenly, a man in a black shihakusho- Soul Reaper attire- teleported up to him. He stumbled back a step, and he started to glow. And then his body puffed into smoke.

Starrk looked up, his eyes widening. He realized that it was his fault that that the man was killed. He went to stand up, but he had no arm strength. _I guess this is it..._ He thought.

Suddenly, a man teleported next to Starrk. He had grey eyes, and long wavy brown hair, which was tied in a long ponytail and has long bangs that frame the left side of his face. He wears a straw hat and a pink, flowered kimono, which was draped over his shoulders, and over a white captain's uniform.

Starrk looked up at him.

The man offered a hand to Starrk. "You're Spiritual Pressure is very strong, lad. It's so strong that it can kill anyone that doesn't have high enough Spirit Energy built up." Starrk reached for his hand. "And being as you have so much, it's leaking out. And when you leak out spiritual pressure, it'll cause you to get really hungry." The man helped Starrk to his feet, and handed him a piece of bread.

Starrk quickly ate it, and then the man handed him a small piece of beef, and Starrk hungrily ate it.

"What's your name, son?" Asked the man in the kimono.

"Starrk... Coyote Starrk..."

"I'm Captain of the Eighth Squad, Shunsui Kyoraku." He handed Starrk another piece of bread. "After that, I'm all out. Sorry."

Starrk ate the piece of bread. He swallowed, and realized what he did. He had killed people. He took a step backwards.

"It wasn't your fault." Shunsui told him. "You didn't know what you were doing. But I can teach you how to control your spiritual pressure."

"What does that mean...?" Starrk asked. "And you said something about being a Captain? What does that mean?" He asked.

After several years of training with Shunsui, Starrk picked up on a few of his habits. Shunsui realized that Starrk's spirit energy was so powerful that even when he was suppressing it, he would still kill people.

I can't make him a Soul Reaper, for if I do then he'd put the lives of everyone there in danger... He thought. _But I can't just waste this talent this boy possesses..._

"Shunsui?" Asked Starrk.

"Yes?"

"Can I become a Soul Reaper as well?"

"Well you see-" But before he could finish his sentence a young woman appeared.

She wore a shortened hakama resembling a skirt. Her hair was in two braided pigtails. She also wore red squared glasses.

"Lisa! No!" Cried Shunsui, and he grabbed her by the shoulder and teleported away.

Starrk swallowed. _Damn, I still kill people just by being around them..._ He thought. _I don't want to kill any more people. I don't want to kill any more people!_ Suddenly he started glowing. He then split into two. He looked at his other half. It was a young girl was standing next to him. She had pink eyes, and light green hair. She had a black blanket around her shoulders.

Starrk's uniform had changed as well. He was wearing a black shihakusho, much like the un-seated Soul Reaper that he saw die.

"Tell me something... do you have a name?" Starrk asked.

"I'm Lilynette Gingerbuck... And what about you? Do you have a name? You were once me..."

"I am Coyote Starrk."

"Starrk you say."

Almost a hundred years later, Starrk was standing face to face with Shunsui.

"You're spirit energy has gone down enough that you can go join the Thirteen Court Guard Squads."

Starrk nodded. "Right. I'll strive to become a Captain, just like you."

Shunsui smiled. "Right. If I ever retire, then I want you to take my place."

Starrk returned the smile.

Lilynette said nothing.

The next day, Starrk walked into the Thirteen Court Guard Squads' place. He walked into the Head-Captain's building.

"Sorry to bother you," Starrk said. "But we wanted to join the Court Guard Squads."

Yamamoto turned to him. _His spirit energy is something else... it's Captain level. No. Higher than the average Captain. Who is this man?_ He thought. "Who are you?"

"I am Coyote Starrk. And this is Lilynette Gingerbuck."

Starrk... I've heard Shunsui mention him... he was the one that Shunsui trained... He thought. "Did you go to the Sin'o Academy?"

"No."

"Hm... Very well. There are two ways that you can become a Captain, from here. There was a third, but that would require you to beat the Captain in a battle."

"Why isn't that an option?"

"If you become a Captain, I would like you to become a Captain in one of the vacant Captain seats. Right now there three vacant positions.

One of the other ones, you must have recommendation from several Captains, and then approval of even more. But you don't know any of them, so I think almost all of them will disapprove. The third you must be able to use Bankai- can you perform Bankai?"

"Bankai... Yes."

"Alright. Three Captains will be summoned here to witness you use your Bankai."

"If I become a Captain, I would like Lilynette to be my Lieutenant."

"Can Gingerbuck use Shikai?"

"Well..." Starrk thought for a moment. "I don't really feel like explaining it right now... so I'll just show you once I use my Bankai. I don't expect you to understand what I'm talking about."

_What is this man talking about?_Thought Yamamoto.

Later, Shunsui, Sui-Feng- the Captain of the Second Squad, and Sajin Komamura The Captain of the Seventh Squad. Sui-Feng was a short woman, she had black hair, and grey eyes. She was wearing a black uniform with the white Captain's uniform over it. On contrast, Sajin was a giant anthropomorphic fox with brown and white fur. He wore the basic Captain uniform.

Starrk glanced at the captains. Shunsui smiled at him.

"Lilynette. Please leave." Said Yamamoto, the Head Captain.

"She needs to be here." Starrk said.

"What? What do you need the kid for?" Asked Shunsui.

"You mean you haven't seen this guy's Bankai?" Asked Sui-Feng.

"I didn't even know he had a Shikai."

"What did you think I did in all those days that you were doing your captain duties?" Starrk asked.

"But you don't even have a Zanpakuto..."

"Well you see... Lilynette is my other half. A Zanpakuto is the heart of a Soul Reaper's power. Sealed in the form of a sword. A Soul Reaper's true power is sealed inside the Zanpakuto. Over the centuries, the Soul Reapers have had almost all of their powers in their swords."

"Why are you telling us this?"

"Ours works a bit differently. Our divided in two bodies, instead of a body and a sword."

That peaked Sui-Feng's interest.

"Enough explaining. Time to show you that I'm not lying." Starrk looked over to Lilynette.

She nodded to him. He put his hand on her head. Instantly blue energy shot straight into the air. "Kick about! Los Lobos!"

Suddenly the room filled with smoke. Once it cleared, Starrk was standing there. Lilynette was gone. In Starrk's hands were a pair of pistols. His upper body was covered in a grey fur-lined jacket over a double-breasted vest, while he had dark, skin-tight pants, with grey knee-high fur leggings covering his lower legs. He had fur-covered holsters for his guns.

"A released form a Zanpakuto that's a gun?" Mumbled Sajin. "Such a strange sight."

"That is our Shikai. Now... BAN-KAI!"

Notes: I hope you enjoyed my story about Starrk. I'm going to update it weekly, and if you could check out my fanfiction about Kenpachi in Naruto. If you already read Kenpachi in Naruto, you might be thinking that I don't do Insert OCs. The true of the matter is, I really like Insert OCs, but it's easier to do these types of stories. For one thing it's easier than OCs because you don't need to create all of the characters. I might make one of those eventually.

And just so you guys know, Kenpachi in Naruto comes before this story. So if I don't get Kenpachi in Naruto done, I won't get this story done. Of course I'm not going to show you Starrk's Bankai, because I'm evil like that. And it's going to be different from any of his other abilities. Any of his abilities that he's already been shown to do in canon is his Shikai abilities. That's the only hints you get about his ability, until he's in battle to show his ability.

2. Chapter 2

Episode 2: Captain Starrk

Starrk was wearing the Captain's uniform. Unlike all the other Captain's uniforms, Starrk's was a lot tighter on him, and he wore his closed. Lilynette was walking next to him, she was wearing a black shihakusho, with the lieutenant badge on her shoulder. She was walking proudly next to Starrk. Both of them were given swords, but neither of their swords had any special properties aside from being able to purify a hollow's soul. Of course, they weren't Zanpakuto—they were just swords.

Starrk sat down at a large table. The room was filled with officers, seated, or unseated. All from Starrk's new division.

"Hello." He said. "I'm Coyote Starrk. You don't need to address me as Captain Starrk, just Starrk is fine. I should probably give a speech... but it doesn't really make a difference."

"We've been getting along fine with Momo as our leader. Why should we take orders from you?" Growled an un-seated officer.

"Stop!" Growled a young woman with black hair tied in a bun, and big brown eyes. She went to say something else, but Starrk put his hand on her shoulder.

"That's enough. It was a fair question."

The woman glanced over at Starrk, with a confused look.

"If you don't take orders from him, then you'll all be fired!" Growled Lilynette.

"Lilynette. Stop." Starrk said. "If you don't listen to me- there will be no consequences."

Everyone looked at him.

"Starrk!" Growled Lilynette.

"Lilynette, I said be quiet. If you don't take your orders from me, take them from your old lieutenant- who was Lieutenant Hinamori, correct?"

"Yes sir..." Said the woman with black hair. "That's me..."

Under closer inspection Starrk saw that she had dark bags under her eyes, that was hidden by make-up. He wouldn't have noticed if she wasn't looking at him. She turned away.

"Lieutenant Hinamori, I hope you don't mind Lilynette being your co-lieutenant."

"You can just call me Momo..." She said.

"But do you mind?"

"No, sir! You can do whatever you want sir. It's your squad!"

There was a quiet murmur in the crowd.

Starrk nodded. "Alright. Tomorrow, The Head-Captain organized a mission for ten of us. That will include, myself and Lilynette. Does anyone want to do volunteer?"

"I will." Momo raised her hand. The Third Seat raised his hand. The Fifth Seat did as well.

"That's five. Anyone else?" Starrk asked.

No one complied.

"You damned pansies!" Cried the Third Seat. "I doubt you aren't doing this mission because you don't like Captain Starrk! I bet you guys are taking advantage of his generosity! You know what, if we don't have five more volunteers then-"

Starrk stepped forwards. "That's enough. Five is fine."

Momo swallowed. She had no idea if she liked this man or not.

Starrk, Lilynette, Momo, Kai (the Third Seat), and Mizu (the Fifth Seat). Kai had spiked black hair and blue eyes, and a serious look on his face. He had his sword in his hand. Mizu was Kai's younger brother, but their personalities differed quite a bit. Mizu his hair cut down really short, and he had green eyes, he had a calm look on his face. He had his sword at his hip. Momo looked as though she didn't sleep the night before.

They were looking for hollows that were roaming the area, and they had killed several people.

"Captain!" Called Momo, pointing forwards to a small herd of hollows.

Starrk went for his sword.

The hollows instantly started running towards them. "Momo, Kai, Mizu. You guys get back. Lilynette and I will be able to handle this."

"No way, Captain!" Called Kai, grinning. "We didn't come out here for nothing! And we aren't just some guys, we're Seated Officers! We'll be able to handle ourselves."

"Very well." Starrk drew his sword, and he gripped it with both hands. He instantly leapt up into the air, and he slashed one of the hollows in half.

Momo drew her sword, and then tightened her grip on it with one hand. She charged at the hollows, Kai running beside her while Mizu was flying beside them.

"Hado, Number Thirty one! Shakkaho!" She had her hand forwards and then blasted fire at one of the hollows.

Kai jammed his sheathed sword into the head of a hollow. Mizu drew his sword, and finished off the hollow that Kai attacked. "Guys!" Called Momo. Kai and Mizu turned around to see a rather large hollow. It had a Cero right in front of it's face, ready to blast them.

Kai and Mizu went to run, and Momo followed but the Cero was already going towards it's targets.

Starrk finished off several hollows as once, and then he saw the big hollow attacking his subordinates.

Starrk flash stepped in front of it, the sphere hitting him in the him, he was facing towards his officers. The Cero flew off in several directions, but still hit his back. Starrk wasn't about to move, or fall though.

His subordinates turned around, and looked at him.

"I'm sorry. I should have been more careful." He said. He turned back and he looked up at the hollow. His back had been burnt from getting hit by the Cero.

Lilynette drew her sword, and slashed down onto the hollow's head. She then teleported back to Starrk when she realized that her blow didn't work. The hollow swatted at where she was a moment ago.

>Starrk sheathed his sword. "Ready?" He asked.

"Yeah." Lilynette said.

Starrk put his hand on her head. "Kick about! Los Lobos!" Blue energy shot straight up into the air, and knocked his subordinates backwards. Starrk gripped his guns.

"Where's Lilynette?" Asked Momo.

Starrk pointed his gun at the hollow, and he pulled the trigger. A blue blast was sent flying and hit the hollow in the chest. The hollow turned to dust.

"That looked like a Cero!" Cried Momo. "But it has a Kido feel to it, so it's different from a Cero... but if it was a Kido spell, he would have had to shout the name of the spell. But he didn't..."

Starrk put his guns in the holsters. Suddenly he turned back to his normal form, and Lilynette appeared. Starrk looked down at his sword. "I'm sorry I didn't explain that before. Lilynette and I are two parts of the same soul. When we were one, our spiritual pressure was so great that it could kill people just by being around them. I got fed up with this- I don't exactly remember how I did it- but I split us into two different bodies. Therefore it split our spiritual pressure in half as well."

The next day, Momo was sitting next to Toshiro Hitsugaya. Toshiro was a short grey haired boy with cold blue eyes. He was a Captain.

"So what do you think of the new Captain?" He asked.

"I think he's really nice." Momo said. "He's too easy going though, he said that he wouldn't punish any of his subordinates if they didn't do what he said. He's strong, though. He was able to take a Cero blast from a hollow."

Toshiro nodded. "Maybe I'll go have a chat with him when we're both off duty."

Shunsui was lying on his back on a building. He had his hat over his face. Jushiro- Shunsui's Captain friend teleported up to him. Shunsui removed the hat from his face.

"Hey, Jushiro." He called.

Jushiro Ukitake had white hair, and black eye brows. He had green eyes, and a warm smile. He had a terrible sickness, that caused him to cough up blood. When he was much younger, he was attacked by the sickness- and after a three day period his hair turned white.

"Shunsui, I heard that you trained with the current Captain of Squad Five?"

"Yeah, I told you about him. His name is Coyote Starrk."

"What's he like? Is he fit to be a Captain?"

"Well, I don't really know. He seems more fit than most of the Captains of Squad Eleven."

Squad Eleven was notorious around the Soul Society for having dim witted combat loving members, Captains and all.

"But I know that he'd never become an enemy to the Soul Society, I know that much."

Sui-Feng was walking in the regiment along with her lieutenant Marichiyo Omaeda.

"Do you think that the new Captain's going to abandon us and join Aizen?" Asked Omaeda.

Sui-Feng glared at him. But she still answered, "We really don't know. But if we don't give him an inch, then he won't be able to take a mile."

"So what kind of techniques did he do? Is he a master of Kido?"

"His Bankai... was interesting. But it doesn't matter."

Starrk lying in his bed, sleeping. He still had his uniform on. He was sleeping with his mouth wide open.

A small hand went into Starrk's mouth, and he instantly choked, and sat up into a sitting position.

Lilynette retracted her hand. "Ha ha ha! You woke up!" She put her hand on her hip. "Starrk, mornin'!"

"Good morning, Lilynette." He lied back down. "Gimme a break, okay?"

"Gah! Don't go back to sleep!" She roared. She jumped up onto his stomach. She punched him the chest a few times. "Come on, come on! No more sleeping!" She was laughing the whole time.

Starrk groaned. "Stop it, Lilynette!" He groaned, but she continued to yell at him to wake up. Starrk made no move to stop her.

"I'll stop if you get out of bed! I'm not gonna stop if you don't get outta bed, am I?"

She eventually stopped, and Starrk caught his breath.

"You need to do your Captain duties!" She laughed at him.

Starrk groaned.

Lilynette then got up, and walked away.

Starrk teleported to the Head-Captain, who gave him a large stack of paperwork to do. He sighed as he got back to his quarters. He set his paperwork down, and he pulled up a chair.

Later that day, Starrk and Shunsui were sitting across from each other at a table. Lilynette was there too. Shunsui had a steak, and he also had a thing of sake next to his plate. Starrk had a plastic bottle of pop, that Lilynette was also drinking from- despite having her own drink. On Starrk's plate he had a plate of yellow rice, and chicken.*

"Most of his subordinates don't really like him very much." Lilynette said, but she didn't sound too upset. She reached for a piece of Starrk's chicken, and he lifted his fork up above his plate so he didn't accidentally stab her.

"They'll come around." Shunsui said, cutting up part of his steak.

Starrk took a drink. "It's nice," He said. "To be able to stay that I'm the same level as you."

"I wouldn't go that far." Shunsui smiled. "Maybe our ranks are the same, but I'll always be your master."

"Right." Starrk took a bite of rice. "So why was there three vacant Captain Positions?"

"Sosuke Aizen..." Said Shunsui. "Was the Captain that was in your position before you got here. He betrayed the Soul Society, and went off on his own with two other Soul Reaper Captains."

Starrk nodded. "I see." While he was looking up at Shunsui he stabbed into something that he thought was a piece of chicken, but turned out to be Lilynette's hand.

"OW!" She cried, yanking her hand back.

"Sorry." He said, but he didn't seem very apologetic.

Notes: *I wanted Starrk to be eating something Spanish, due to the Espada being Spanish, and this is a Cuban cuisine arroz con pollo meaning rice with chicken.

3. Chapter 3

Episode 3: Arrancar

After a little less than a month, there was a Captain's meeting. All of the Captains were there, along with their Lieutenants.

"There are these beings that have been appearing recently. They are Hollows that Sosuke Aizen removed their masks to gain powers of a Soul Reaper. They still have part of their masks on, and they have their hollow hole. They have Zanpakuto." That made Lilynette's eyes widen. "They're called Arrancars."

"Arrancars, huh?" Asked Starrk. "That means to tear off in Spanish. Japanese for Ripped off mask."

"You wouldn't know anything about the Arrancar, now would you? Starrk?" Asked Mayuri Kurotsuchi- the Captain of the Twelfth Squad.*

"Hm? What's that supposed to mean?" Starrk asked.

Most of everyone besides Sui-Feng and Sajin looked at them. But only Jushiro was visibly concerned.

"I mean to say that I don't think that it was a coincidence that you showed up right after Aizen left the Soul Society. And now you're here right as the Arrancar appear. I think you're a spy for Aizen."

Well that was straight forwards. Thought Sui-Feng. She still didn't look as though she cared.

"HOW DARE YOU INSULT STARRK!" Roared Lilynette.

"Lilynette. Calm down." Starrk said. He looked back up to Maryui. "Do you have anything else to say?"

That got Sajin to look over. He's not trying to fight back against him?

"No. I said everything I had to in that last statement." Maryui said. "And if you don't deny that you work for Aizen, then we'll just have to lock you up."

"Head Captain!" Cried Momo. "That isn't fair!"

"Lieutenant Hinamori. I'm afraid Captain Kurotsuchi is right. If Captain Starrk doesn't fight against it, then we'll just have to assume that he's a traitor."

"I trained with Coyote Starrk before the whole hollowfication incident. Aizen would have had to plan quite a bit a head for Starrk to--"

"Captain Kyoraku." Said Starrk. "I can handle this."

What a strange man... Thought Nanao Ise, Shunsui's lieutenant. She had black hair, and glasses. Starrk nearly mistook her as Shunsui's old lieutenant, Lisa. _He's much like my Captain, in many ways. Well he did train with him for almost a hundred years..._

"I don't work for Aizen. But I don't technically have any evidence that I don't- So Captain Kurotsuchi won't stop pestering me about it. But you won't find any evidence saying that I work for Aizen."

>Mayuri smiled.

He's a smart man. Thought Toshiro. _He may come off as lazy like Shunsui, but he's probably just as smart as I am._

Kai and Mizu were walking side by side.

"Man," Kai said. He put his hands behind his head. "What's takin' them so long?"

"I don't know." Mizu replied.

"My sword hasn't tasted the blood of my foe in a long time... I need to cut something..."

"Your sword hasn't cut anything in a while because you constantly fight with your sheath on."

"My sword want's to taste blood too."

"That's because your Zanpakuto spirit's personality is much like the users, on most occasions."

"Hey, Mizu? You wanna fight?"

"No."

"Come on, you friggin' pansy. Let's fight. There'll be no harm done... I just wanna cut you a little..."

"You should have stayed in the Eleventh Squad."

"And you should have stayed in Squad Four, pansy."

The Fourth Seat walked up to them. He had blue hair, and hazel eyes.

"Hey, how's it going?"

"Shut up." Growled Kai.

"Geez, you're still mad about that?"

"If you weren't such a pussy then I wouldn't be. You disrespected Captain Starrk, and you disrespected Lieutenant Hinamori and Lieutenant Gingerbuck."

"That was one time!"

"But did you say you were sorry?" Asked Mizu.

"No..."

"Then do it!" Growled Kai. "After the Captain's done with his meeting, then you apologize to him."

"Whatever." He mumbled.

"What's that, Hideki Chen?"

"I said, okay!"

"That's what I figured."

"You can leave now, Hideki." Mizu told him.

"You aren't the boss of me! You're ranked one seat lower than me!"

"Don't screw with Mizu." Kai warned. "Even if he's ranked lower than you, he'd tear you to pieces."

"Then why's he ranked lower than me? And you?"

"I don't need a title. I don't even need people to know that I'm strong. It doesn't make a difference. I'm not going to go out of my way to go up in rank. I'm a Fifth Seat. That's good. I don't need to go higher than that. Now, please leave, Hideki. Kai's blade wants to taste blood."

Hideki then realized why Mizu was trying to shoo him off. So he nodded to them, and ran off.

Later that day, Starrk was back at his office. He was sleeping. Lilynette suddenly slammed her fist into Starrk's lower stomach.

"WAKE UP!" She yelled.

Starrk groaned, and coughed. "Do you need to be so aggressive?"

"You got a visitor."

Starrk was confused. He wondered who it would be, being as Shunsui almost never came by, and he didn't know any other captain very well. He'd have to get on that. He figured it was probably Momo, being as she was his lieutenant. He opened the door to see Hideki.

Hideki bowed to him. "I'm sorry, Captain Starrk..."

"Get up." Starrk said.

Hideki looked up at him, confused. "Pardon?"

"I said get off the floor. You don't need to bow to me. What are you even sorry for?"

"Mizu and Kai wanted me to apologize for not going on that first mission with you."

"Oh. I actually forgot about that..." Starrk smiled slightly. "You're forgiven. I'm going back to bed." He lied back down at his bed.

Hideki walked away.

The next day, Starrk walked up to the Second Squad's headquarters. Sui-Feng teleported to the gate.

"What do you want?" She asked.

Starrk bowed, at about a forty five degree angle. "Hello, Captain Sui-Feng. I was wondering if I could get to know you better."

"Why?"

"I was going to get to know all the captains better. The only ones I know are Shunsui and the Head-Captain."

"Well..." Sui-Feng took a deep breath. He seems like a nice enough guy. "I'm an assassin. I like assassinating people, I also like my Shikai. I dislike my Bankai, and I really hate my lieutenant."

"I like to eat Spanish cuisine, and I can speak several languages. I don't like when my co-lieutenant wakes me up, and I don't really hate anything."

"You don't take Mayuri for accusing you of being Aizen's puppet?"

"It was a reasonable assumption. I don't blame him for making it."

"Well, if you ever want to go on an assassination, I'll be here. I gotta go."

Starrk nodded to her. "Good bye, Captain Sui-Feng."

"Just so you know, most Captains don't refer to other Captains by their title. They also don't refer to their subordinates by their titles. It shows weakness." Sui-Feng teleported away, before waiting for a response.

Starrk went to Squad Three's headquarters. He walked up to Izuru Kira, a blonde man with green eyes.

"Captain Starrk?" Asked Kira confused.

"Hey. How's it going?" Starrk responded.

"Why are you here?" Kira put it bluntly.

"Well I wanted to personally get to know all the leaders of all the squads."

"Uh... what do you want to know?"

"What do you like to do? What do you dislike?"

"I like to write haiku, I hate dried fruit. I also don't like talking to people very much."

Starrk said the same thing he did to Sui-Feng, then left.

Starrk then went to the Fourth Squad, and he walked into a hospital. Isane Kotetsu- the lieutenant ran up to him. She was tall, she had silver hair and grey eyes.

"Hello, how can I-" Her eyes widened when she realized who it was. "C-C-Captain Starrk!"

He nodded. "Yeah. Is Captain Unohana busy?"

She darted off.

Starrk leaned across the desk to see where she ran off too, but he couldn't find her. "She's pretty fast..." He mumbled.

Unohana walked up to him. She had long black hair, and kind blue eyes. Her hair was braided out in front of her, and went down from there.

"Hello, Captain Starrk." She said.

"Hey. How's it going, Captain Unohana?"

"I'm alright. Is there a specific reason why you're here? Did one of your subordinates get hurt?"

"No. I'm here because I wanted to get to know all of the Squad Captains. I just made my way to you."

"Well... I like to help people, and I also like bloody steaks. I dislike disrespectful people."

Starrk told her what he liked and didn't like. "Say, your lieutenant... is she always... jumpy?"

"Yes."

"She nearly jumped out of her skin when she saw me. I hope she quickly realizes that I'm not scary..." He ran his fingers through his hair. "See you later, Captain." Starrk walked out.

Starrk realized it was getting late, so he went back to his house. He went to sleep, going to meet up with the rest of the Captains the next day.

Notes: *Being as Kurotsuchi has a complicated appearance, I really don't want to describe him. Also I'm really lazy- sorry.

Also, I'm going to re-write the whole war arc. So if you had any problems with the canon of the war arc then I'll try fix it. I already have a few ideas for the arc. And to make myself more clear I mean the war itself, not the whole Arrancar arc (in other words it doesn't count Ichigo's first and second battle with Grimmjow).

If you have a problem with my story, drop a review. I can't fix things if I don't know they're broken.

4. Chapter 4

Episode 4: The Captains

The next day, Starrk woke up. He smiled slightly as he realized that Lilynette was still sleeping. He stood up, and he looked down at his Captain's uniform that he slept in. He took a deep breath, and then he changed into his spare jacket. He then buttoned his jacket, all the way up to his neck.

Starrk then went to the Sixth Squad- bein

>g as he was the Captain of the Fifth Squad. Unlike all the other squads, he wasn't instantly greeted by anyone. He knocked on the gate, but no one opened the gate.

"Hello?" He called. No answer for a minute. Starrk wondered if he should leave or if he should go in. He took a step forwards, taking the first step into the squad barracks.

Suddenly Byakuya teleported in front of him. "Do you always intrude into someone else's property when they don't answer?" He asked.

"Hello, Captain Kuchiki." Starrk nodded to him. "I am going to meet up with all the Captains of each squad."

"Hm. Get out of my barracks, Starrk."

Starrk sighed. "Alright." He turned, and walked out.

>Starrk walked into the Seventh Squad's barracks. Tetsuzaemon Iba greeted him. He had black hair, and black sunglasses. "Hello, Captain Starrk. What do you need?"

"I would like to see Captain Komamura."

"Right." Tetsuzaemon nodded, and he teleported away. A minute later Sajin came out.

Starrk looked up at the massive Captain. He didn't look intimidated. "Hey."

"Starrk." Sajin said. "What's the matter?"

"Well, nothing. I was just meeting the Captains."

"I see." Sajin took him into the barracks. He pulled up a chair, and handed one to Starrk. Starrk sat down.

"Thanks."

"So, Starrk... do you want to go on a mission?"

"Sure."

"Alright. We'll go to the Head Captain."

>"So you two want a mission?"

"We'd also like to bring our lieutenants." Said Starrk.

"Alright. You'll get the mission tomorrow."

>Starrk then went to the Eighth Squad, seeing Shunsui.

"Hey, Starrk. How's it going?"

"Shunsui. I'm fine. And you?"

"I've been better, but I guess that it's fine. Are you nervous about the Arrancar?"

"No, I was just going around the Squads, talking to all the Captains. I just made it to you."

"I see..." Shunsui nodded. "Well, don't let this old man hold you back."

Starrk smiled slightly, then teleported to the Ninth Squad. He knocked on the gate, and Shuhei Hisagi opened it. He had black hair, and he had no sleeves on his shihakusho. He had several scars going down from his one eye, and a blue strip tattoo going across his nose. He also had a tattoo of the number, sixty nine.

Shuhei looked up at him. "Hello, Captain Starrk."

Starrk nodded to him. "Shuhei. Tell me about yourself."

"Hm? Well, I like music, and I like to play my guitar. I don't like people who betray others. I also don't like the shape of my Shikai, or violence."

Starrk told him what he liked and disliked. Shuhei stuck his hand out, and they two shook hands.

>Starrk then went to Squad Ten's barracks. He walked up to the gate. It was instantly opened, before he even knocked. Rangiku Matsumoto stood there. She had long blond hair, and green eyes. She smiled at him. "Captain Starrk..." She said, dreamily.

"Hi." Starrk smiled back at her. "Is Captain Hitsugaya busy?"

Rangiku frowned. "No... I'll go get him..." She seemed mildly disappointed.

After a minute, Starrk was walking next to Toshiro in his barracks.

"Hello, Starrk."

"Hello, Captain Hitsugaya." Toshiro Hitsugaya was a short man- he had the appearance of a young teenager. He had spiked white hair, and he also had turquoise eyes. He wore the standard Soul Reaper Captain uniform. He had a green sash across his chest, which held his Zanpakuto at his back.

Toshiro nodded, obviously satisfied.

"What do you like to do, Captain?" Asked Starrk.

"Hm?"

"I'm getting to know all the Captains of each squad. I made it all the way to you, so far."

"Well, I like watermelon, and I dislike dried permissions. I am pleased when people address me by my title, but it angers when I am not addressed as so."

Starrk then told the young captain what he told everyone else. Then he left Toshiro to his business.

>Starrk was now face to face with Kenpachi Zaraki, the Eleventh

Squad Captain. Kenpachi towered over Starrk, and Starrk was a decent height- six foot and one and a half inches tall (187 CM). Kenpachi had long black hair, that stuck out in spikes. He had small yellow bells attached to the ends of each spike. He had a black eye patch, and he had a long scar going down from his forehead, over his eye- not the eye with the patch over it.

He had a short pink haired girl standing on his shoulder. She had big brown eyes.

"What do you want?" Kenpachi growled.

"Well, I was meeting up with all the-"

"I don't really give a shit unless you want to fight." He got down closer to his face. "Do you?"

"No. I'm sorry I can't fight you."

"Come on, please?" Asked the pink haired girl. "It'll be fun~!"

"I'm sorry, Lieutenant Kusajishi, Captain Zaraki. I can't fight you."

"Then get the hell out." Kenpachi pointed to the door.

"Alright." Starrk left.

>Starrk walked into the Twelfth Squad's barracks. Mayuri Kurotsuchi looked at him.

Starrk looked back at him.

The two stared silently at each other for almost a minute.

"Did you come here to kill me? Because if you did then that won't turn out well."

"I'm not here because of your accusation from yesterday. I'm here because I wanted to get to know all the Squad Captains personally. You just happen to be a Squad Captain. And I make no exceptions."

Maryui smiled. "Well... I love to experiment on things. I hate when I have to deal with useless people."

Starrk then told him what he liked and didn't like. He then headed to the Thirteenth Squad's barracks.

Two people teleported to him as soon as he got near the door. "What business do you have?" Asked the man. He had black hair, and he had a goatee.

Before Starrk could open his mouth, he was interrupted.

"What business do you have in the Thirteenth Squad's Barracks?" Asked the girl. She was blond, and she had blue eyes. They were both Third Seats.

"Hey, I said that!" Cried the man.

"Well I was more specific!" Growled the girl.

"Why I oughta-"

"I'm here to see Captain Ukitake. Is he busy?"

"No." The man said.

"He isn't busy, you can go right on ahead-"

"Captain Starrk." The man finished her sentence.

The two continued to argue as Starrk walked in.

>Jushiro Ukitake was sitting at a desk, doing some paper work. Starrk knocked on the door, and Jushiro stood up and walked over. He opened the door.

Jushiro smiled as he opened the door. "Why, hello, Captain Starrk!"

"Hello, Captain Ukitake." Starrk nodded to him. Jushiro went and pulled up two chairs for them.

"What do you need, Captain Starrk?"

"Well... I was meeting all the Captains. And you're the last captain I have to meet."

Jushiro's smile widened. "Well, I really like to write. I also like to feed fish, but I dislike to fight- I will fight if I need to."

"Lilynette likes to feed fish."

"Lilynette?"

"My Lieutenant."

"Oh, that pink haired girl?"

"Yeah."

"Maybe some time I'll go feed the fish with you and your two lieutenants."

Starrk shrugged. "Sure."

Jushiro's smile faded, and he looked down. "Wait a second..." He reached down under his desk and he pulled out a box of candies. "Share these with your lieutenants."

"Thanks..." Starrk was surprised by this. He took the box. "I'll see you later, Captain Ukitake." Starrk walked away.

>Starrk, his lieutenants, and his seated officers up to Fifth Seat were sitting around in chairs. All of them were chewing on suckers. Lilynette had her feet up on Starrk's lap.

"So, are you like a couple or something?" Asked Hideki.

Lilynette nearly fell out of her chair, laughing.

"Well... sort of. Lilynette's my second half. We were originally the same being. But our spirit energy was so high that it'd kill people. We crew fed up with his, so we separated. But when I go into my Shikai, she goes with me. I explained this after our first mission."

"He wasn't there." Said Kai. "It was just Momo, you two, me, and Mizu."

"Mizu and I." His brother corrected him.

"Shut up." He didn't actually sound angry. He chomped down onto his sucker, and he then threw the stick away, and got another one.

"Yeah, I'm terribly sorry for-"

"Stop apologizing." Starrk said. "The past is the past. You don't need to aghast over it. You learned your lesson, you were sorry, it's over."

There was a few minutes of silence while they were all sucking on their candies.

"We should all get some sleep. That goes for you two, Momo. I know you haven't been sleeping at night."

Momo's eyes widened. _I didn't know Captain Starrk knew that I wasn't sleeping..._ She thought. "But, Captain-"

"No. You need to go to sleep. Do you need sleeping pills?"

Notes: I started saying division instead of squad. I'm sorry about that- I recently started reading the manga, and I guess I got the names screwed up. The wikia calling it divisions probably didn't help either. But I didn't refer to them as Shinigami instead of Soul Reaper- that's probably because division and squad are both English, where as Shinigami is Japanese and Soul Reaper is English. Again, sorry for screwing that up.

And, I'm going to start putting horizontal lines to divide scenes. One line will show the end of a scene, two will show a long time lapse, and three will show the end of the episode.

Also, if anyone is interested in drawing Fanart for this story, PM me. Starrk doesn't change much, but he loses his hollow mask. Lilynette's appearance changed quite a bit- in this she wears a standard Shikakusho and she doesn't have her mask. I'm also interested to see what people think of the OCs in the Fifth Squad.

Again, tell me if I did anything wrong. I can't fix it if I don't know it's broken.

End
file.
